Other Notes or needed components:

We will always try to provide the computer processor speed to meet your needs along with monitors, keyboards, mice and power cables. We will also provide the RAM and hard drive memory as well as any other components to the extent of our inventory.

The more advanced your requirements are, the longer it may take to fill your order. If you need specialized parts that we do not have available in our inventory, we will have to purchase additional components at auction or on the Internet. We will bill you the cost of the components purchased. Of course we will contact you prior to the purchase, keeping you informed in the progress of the request.
